Dear Honorees:

I am truly honored to recognize the University's highest achieving scholars. The theme for this year is, "Building Upon a Rich Heritage and a Proud Legacy," which is most fitting for today's occasion. Your academic achievements today mirror those individuals who came before you. By your record of excellence, you are establishing a proud legacy.

Your accomplishments and today's recognition make you ambassadors of the University. Continue to excel academically and continue to reach for even higher heights. I thank you and I congratulate you on your success and achievements.

Sincerely,

Andrew Hugine, Jr., Ph.D.
President

HONORS AND AWARDS CONVOCATION

This occasion has been designated as an appropriate time to honor students who have distinguished themselves in scholarship and service. Such distinctions are manifested through the attainment of Presidential Medallions, academic scholarships and induction into academic honor societies.

PRESIDENTIAL SCHOLAR AWARDS

The Presidential Scholar Awards were initiated in 1977 by Dr. M. Maceo Nance, Jr., the fifth President of South Carolina State University. The underlying objectives for establishing the awards were (1) to recognize students who demonstrate academic excellence; (2) to encourage those who demonstrate academic excellence to maintain and achieve higher levels of academic pursuits; (3) to provide symbolic recognition via the Presidential Medallion, which would be significant to those who earn the award and to those who view the same; and (4) to provide an incentive to all students to achieve academic excellence. This established tradition at the University continues to preserve our legacy.

A recipient of the Presidential Scholar Award must be a full-time, regularly enrolled, degree-seeking undergraduate at the University. To qualify for a medallion, freshmen and transfer students must not have taken any remedial courses that are prerequisites to degree programs. To qualify for a gold medallion, freshmen and transfer students must have averages of 3.94 to 4.00. Medallions are awarded based upon the following criteria:

Bronze Medallion	3.00-3.49	cumulative grade point average
Silver Medallion	3.50-3.74	cumulative grade point average
Gold Medallion	3.75-4.00	cumulative grade point average

Students whose enrollment status are reduced to part-time as a result of participation in special programs will be evaluated on their performance during the fall semester of the year of the award and the prior spring or summer full-time enrollment.

CONVOCATION SPEAKER, DR. SAUNDRA H. GLOVER

Vice President for Research and Economic Development
South Carolina State University

An Orangeburg native, Dr. Sandra H. Glover serves as the Vice President for Research and Economic Development and Acting Executive Director of 1890 Research and Extension at South Carolina State University where she works to make South Carolina State University a lead institution in addressing the health issues that impact the rural communities in South Carolina and throughout the Southeastern United States. Included in Dr. Glover's new responsibilities is the James E. Clyburn University Transportation Center, which she envisions serving as a hub for student, faculty, and community learning, along with the 1890 Research and Cooperative Extension and the University's sponsored programs and research area.

Dr. Glover graduated from South Carolina State University in 1979 with her bachelor's degree in accounting and spent many years in the banking industry, primarily in Orangeburg. She earned her MBA degree in 1984 and Ph.D. degree in 1991 in Organizational Behavior and Human Resource Management from the University of South Carolina (USC).

Dr. Glover served in multiple roles, including Director of the Institute for Partnerships to Eliminate Health Disparities at USC, Associate Professor of Health Services Policy and Management in the Arnold School of Public Health at USC, and Associate Director of the South Carolina Rural Health Research Center at USC.

Although her education is business related, Glover's interest in public health developed after taking a teaching position in the School of Public Health at USC where students in the Master's of Health Administration Program were required to take business courses. It was then that she began to develop research in the field of health services and policy management. As a result, Dr. Glover completed a two-year post doctorate fellowship with the National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors (NASMHPD) where she examined the disparity in access of children and adolescents who displayed violence and acting-out behaviors in the classroom. She focused on why minority children tended to end up in the Department of Juvenile Justice system versus other children who ended up in the mental health system.

After completing her post doctorate fellowship, Dr. Glover turned her attention to addressing health disparities that disproportionately impact the African-American community and finding solutions for improving the health status of all people statewide and worldwide through research grants.

Dr. Glover has served as principal investigator and co principal investigator on a number of contracts and grants examining access and quality of care issues for low-income children, community-based mental health service delivery, school-based mental health service delivery, syphilis prevention, teen-pregnancy, HIV/AIDS, diabetes and childhood obesity. Dr. Glover's $2.75 million project, funded by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan, is designed to increase the number of African-American public health professionals and health researchers.

Dr. Glover completed a one-year sabbatical with 1890 as an Associate Research Professor, which gave her the opportunity to engage staff, faculty and members of the administration on the issues of minority health and health disparities. One of the outcomes of the sabbatical experience was the articulation of the role of the 1890 and South Carolina State in eliminating racial health disparities in the state and the southeast region by linking to other 1890 schools in the land-grant system, which Glover felt was the greatest opportunity to affect minority communities. She knew that by linking to Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs), she could not only provide the expertise to collect and analyze the data as do most college and university researchers, but she could go a step further by providing the added ability of translating that data in a way that would impact more lives.

Dr. Glover was also instrumental in establishing the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the S.C. Rural Health Research Center and 1890 to allow for ongoing collaborative research activities and a partnership between South Carolina State University and USC to address the health disparities issue. She has since partnered with all six four-year undergraduate degree-granting HBCUs with the funding from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation to build the research network focused on racial and ethnic health disparities.

Dr. Glover is married to Reverend Samuel B. Glover and together they have three children: Samuel Jr. (Denise), Jared and Crystal. They also have one grandson, Samuel B. Glover III.

LIFT EV'RY VOICE AND SING

Lift ev'ry voice and sing,
Till earth and heaven ring.
Ring with the harmonies of Liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise,
High as the listening skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us,
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us;
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun,
Let us march on till victory is won.

Stoney the road we trod,
Bitter the chast'ning rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat,
Have not our weary feet,
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered,
We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered,
Out from the gloomy past, Till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years,
God of our silent tears,
Thou who has brought us thus far on the way;
Thou who has by Thy might,
Lead us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, Our God, where we met Thee,
Lest our hearts, drunk with the wine of the world, we forget Thee,
Shadowed beneath Thy hand, may we forever stand,
True to our GOD, True to our native land.

ALMA MATER

Sing the praise of Alma Mater
Let us rally to her calls
Lift our voices, send them ringing
Thru the groves and classic halls.

Hail! Hail! Dear Alma Mater
Hail! Hail! Dear S.C.C.
We'll defend and honor
Love and cherish thee.

We are loyal sons and daughters
Proud to own the name we bear,
For the truths that thou has taught us
Ready all to do and dare.
