SC STATE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

RALEIGH, N.C.—The South Carolina State women’s and men’s tennis teams captured the MEAC regular season and tournament championships Saturday at the Raleigh Tennis Club.

The Lady Bulldogs defeated the Lady Spartans of Norfolk State 6-3 to earn their fourth consecutive MEAC title and fifth overall. SCSU’s Marcela Rodezno recorded a 3-0 shutout in Raleigh, N.C.

Serena Williams Wins Family Circle Cup

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Serena Williams captured the Family Circle Cup title Sunday, defeating Vera Zvonareva of Russia 7-5, 6-4 on a breezy, overcast afternoon.

“Serena was a little bit nervous at the beginning of the match, but after that first set, her game went down, ” said Zvonareva, who ended with eight aces, 24 winners and a 6-4, 6-2 victory.

Zvonareva, who lost to Williams in the 2003 Family Circle Cup final, was coming off a semifinals loss to Justine Henin of Belgium.

Williams improved to 5-1 against Zvonareva, who should now move to No. 4 in the rankings by making the final.

In the first set, Zvonareva broke Williams in the third game—the final point on Williams’ second double-fault of the day.

But Williams broke back in the next game, then held serve at love in the next.

“She must have made a mistake when I was up,” Zvonareva said. “I think I could have done a little better job about holding my serve, which I wasn’t able to do.”

Williams then broke Zvonareva a second time, taking advantage of two consecutive double faults.

“Always put pressure on you, so you always have to go for a bigger serve and try to save your serve percentage down,” said Zvonareva, who ended with eight double-faults. “I accepted I would have some double-faults today and I love it. I was coming into the match. My first two had too little to have two of them in a row.”

Williams was fifth-place finisher in Charleston, but her first title was runner-up to Justine Henin in 2003.

Women, Please Stop Complaining About Men

Women need to stop complaining--they are the reason for the lack of high caliber men on college campuses.

By Ronald F. Clark - Black College Wire

The standard is set by the female. A male should never try as hard as his female roommate to attract females. And she will not go for the men who are not attractive. So where is the problem here? Women have allowed such behavior.

Women have allowed such behavior, lazy, selfish and downgrading tendencies to appear in the men they date because of their approach that because they don’t see the reason to expend a lot of energy when the minimal effort is successful.

If I take a look at a boy friend being lackadaisical over my notes and still pass, that’s what I’m going to do. But if I lose my notes the next time, or still make note cards, not to pass, then I would have to expend a lot of energy when the minimal effort is successful.

Women used to be late, now they are the first to arrive.

If all women came together and decided that they were going to allow any more of the nonmanual men are known to produce, they would not be able to help.

Women need to be more than they are, more than they think in how guys act when they have no jobs, no money and no role model.

In the past, women have said that a man needs more than she does, but after a while you have to say enough is enough.

But all women will not allow nonmanual, but twenty others will, well, that is not the fault of the man.

Now, not saying that men do not have a part in this, because they do. But women need to realize that they have much more of a role than they think they have in the relationships that they have.

It comes to them.

As a woman, you are raising down relationships with men who do not know you and stay in them for so long that when they really do get to understand those relationships, they have a negative effect on what men are like.

Irresistibly exists among men and women.

Time after time, a woman will defile the man of the century and says that she is the one that helped him, he seems and his inability to be to do the man, he is out and still with him. I understand that women are natural nurturers but after a while you have to say strength.

Some women complain from beginning to end when there should have never been a beginning to begin with.

Just find someone of your maturity level and if your school does not have someone like that, then look somewhere else look like to the male population on campus or just get a job.

But if a woman will not allow nonmanual, twenty others will, that is not the fault of the man.

The standard is set by the female. A male does whatever it takes to attract females. A male must strive to himself up as attractive to females. But will self-striving make a man into an egomaniac who is where the problem is. Women have allowed such bipedal, lazy, shifting and downgrading endeavors at them at attempting, so for as long as they continue their approach then because they do not the reason to expend a lot of energy when the normal merit is successful. It is true that a man has to blindly gazing over my notes and still pass, that's what I'm going to do. But if I know I must refined the chapter, go over my notes multiple times and make note cards, just to pass, that I will pass. Women need to be used over the now, they are the future.

If all women came together and decided that they were not going to allow any more of the nonuman men are known to produce, then maybe they would step up to the challenge and raise their game. Why? Because most want women, and get it. If a woman is not allowed to sell nonsense, but twenty others will, well, that is not the fault of the man. Now, not saying that men do not have a part in this, because they do. But women need to realize that they have much more of an impact on society than they think they have for good or for evil. If it comes to it.

Women should sit down with relationships men with who do not deserve them and stay in them for so long that when they finally do get out those relationships, they have a negative design that all men are like that, I can tell you. Sibling rivalry exists among men and women. Time after time, a woman will detail the main downsides of the man she has and the continually ruts out his faults, his is and his inability to be to who she thinks him to be, she also is with him. I just understand that women are natural nurturers but after a while you have to say enough is enough.

Some women complain from beginning to end when there should never be a beginning to begin with. Just find someone of your maturity level and move on.

If your life does not have someone like that, then look somewhere else look inside the male population on campus or city. Men are not mind readers and do not have a dime some of your own maturity level.
