Anonymous Donor Gives $90,000 to SC State University

An anonymous graduate of SC State University recently donated a gift of $90,000 to the institution’s endowment fund. Funds will be placed in the University Foundation, and the interest earned will support future student scholarships.

This marks the second time within six months that an anonymous graduate has donated to the University. The first gift of $250,000 was an unrestricted contribution given to SC State in August. Both gifts indicate progress, evident in the overall support from the alumni who increased their giving by 23 percent last year. The University also set a new record for private gifts during the 2008-2009 fiscal year. (Click here for full story).
